

The Program on Health Workforce Research & Policy Seminar

Bob Konrad, Ph.D.

Senior Scientist, NC Institute on Aging
Fellow, Sheps Center

WMD* and the Genesis of Health Occupations

Weber, Marx, and Durkheim

- How and when do new healthcare related occupations originate?
- How is the initiation of new occupations linked to broader societal, cultural, institutional and economic changes?
- What is the relationship between the structural features of a new occupation and aspects like occupational identification, collective self-consciousness, and values and ethics?

This presentation draws on classic concepts and perspectives to explore how fundamental questions about health occupations might yield 21st century answers.
